

Burning idols that of a family that committed their lives to being a disciple of Jesus Christ.

Dear friends and faithful partners,

I've been taking some time recently to reflect... and one thing is very clear:

We would not be here without you.

Through your prayers, encouragement, and support over the years, you have been part of something far bigger than any one of us. You have stood with us in seasons of faith, uncertainty, growth, and breakthrough—and God has been at work in ways that only eternity will fully reveal.

Thank you for praying.

Not just occasionally—but faithfully, persistently, and often behind the scenes. Your prayers have gone ahead into places we could not see, preparing hearts and opening doors.

Thank you for believing.

Believing in the call... believing in multiplication... believing that ordinary people can be used by God to spark extraordinary movements.

Because of your partnership, we've been able to encourage and coach disciple-makers in multiple regions—from the U.S. to Africa and beyond. We are seeing people take simple steps of obedience, share the Gospel, start discovery groups, and multiply disciples in ways that continue to grow.

And yet... we sense we are still only at the beginning.

Jesus said, "The harvest truly is plentiful, but the laborers are few..." (Luke 10:2). That reality is as true today as ever. But we are seeing more believers step into their calling—not waiting, not hesitating—but beginning to live as disciple-makers.

What encourages me most right now:

- More everyday believers stepping out to share their faith
- Simple, reproducible disciple-making tools taking root
- New groups forming and multiplying
- A growing hunger for prayer and obedience

This is not about building something big.

It's about seeing the Kingdom of God spread—person to person, house to house, generation to generation.

And you are part of that story.

As we look ahead, our heart remains the same:
To help ordinary believers take simple steps of obedience that lead to multiplication.

How you can continue to pray:

- For more workers to be raised up (Luke 10:2)
- For boldness and obedience among new believers
- For multiplication that reaches new families, communities, and nations
- For health, endurance and wisdom as we continue coaching and serving

If you've ever wondered whether your prayers matter...
please hear this clearly:

They do. Deeply. Eternally.

Thank you for standing with us. Thank you for believing. Thank you for being part of what God is doing.

With deep gratitude,
